THE STATE

Showing how the Social Democratic Party Forged Ahead in Many of the Cities and Towns of Massachusetts.

The vote for Governor on -the Social Democratic party ticket which is the true test of the strength of the party, is incomplete at this time, only the following figures being available as this paper goes to press.

These figures show that the Social Democratic party is the second party in four cities and towns, viz: Haverhill, Amesbury, Newbury port and Whitman. In Brockton, the S. D. P. is third, falling 108 votes and in Amesbury by 149

STATE NEWS. REP. F. O. MaCARTNEY It is the desire of the publishers that the Haverhill Social Democrat reflect as much as possible the movement for Social Democracy, throughout the state, and branbes are therefore invited to send, through regular correpondents, reports of the movement in their various localities. spondence should reach this office not later than Wednesday of each week.

NOTICE.

The Social Democrat will pub lish the votes received by the party's candidates for representatives and senator just as soon as the correspondents send in reports and this is requested to be done at once .

Whitman, Nov. 7-The election in this town assumed a notable aspect from the unexpected development in the Social Democratic vote.

Crane received 254 votes; Paine had s total of 157; Porter, the Social Democrat candidate for governor, received almost 50 more votes than Mr. Paine, his total being 201. .

These conditions, however, did no show the full strength, but this came out in the contest for election to the legislature, in which N. D. Gillespie Social Democrat, received a greate number of votes than either his republican or his democratic opponent.

In Whitman Mr. Gillespie received

335 votes. W. S. O'Brien, rep., in Whitman received 324., and C. E. Nach, dem., 112. Gillespie ran behind in Abington, the other town in this district, and O'Brien was elected; by 121 votes.

QUINCY.

Quincy. Nov. 7-The greatest surprise connected with the election was the big vote poiled by the Social Democratic candidates for the legislature; Messers. Halvosa and Lamb. The for. mer polled the extraordinary vote of 697 and the latter 497. The vote of the fifth Norfolk district in which Hal. vosa and Lamb ran was as follows: Caln. democrat Halvosa, Social Democrat..... Jordan, democrat Lamb. Social Democrat...... 407

BROCKTON. Brockton, Nov. 7-The feature of today's vote was the remarkable showing made by the Social Democratic party, who captured more votes for the state ticket, governor and auditor excepted, than did the straight The vote was nearly 1000 heid their own. The Social Democrats drew from the republicans and took all the gain. In precinct A, ward 3. the social democrats carried the precinct for every office on the ticket;

America possessed "the man with the Annual income ... The following reply appeared in the columns of the Los Angeles

The other day I ran across the following paragraph in the New York Churchman of Sept. 16:

There was something very striking and very sad withal in that bit of news in an obscure corner of the New York dailies last week which told of a girl found wandering homeless and sick in body and heart in upper New York. They took her to a hospital. She could speak, but it was in a lanad a vertiable land slide, Here too guage that none could understand, even in that polyglot region. In the morning she was found dead, hung to a bedpost with bedticking. Think what blank despair is in this simple publicity to remind Christians, as by a startling parable, of the thousands without a shepherd.

Now, Mr. Markham, with a depth of meaning and suggestiveness which has never been surpassed, states the cause! of why that poor girl and millions of others today "are found wandering homeless and sick in body and heart" all over the world. "She could speak. but it was in a language that none could understand. could understand. . In the merning she was found dead, hung to a bedpost with bedticking. Now, I want to bring home to your in relation to the true conditions caisting in the United States today.

From some determining economic cause there has been an average decline in price since 1870 in a majority of the world's commodities from 20 to 40 per cent. Since 1891 cotton, wheat. culation of literature, the thorough iron, copper, wool, hides, leather and petroicum have touched the lowest prices of the century. Twenty-two dollars and ninety-five cents a month. Contrast that with Mr. Rockefeller's $28.51 coming to him every minute, every day in the year, coming to him almost as you

The chief point to be new considered is What is the family life in our cities? It has long been our boast that the home, the family, were the railying pher, Hobbs, said that the basis of the state is the human family. But the family is not only the basis of the among us who are indeed as sheep state, it is the preserver of its life The preservation of the family, then is necessary for the life of the state

In answering this question, let 'u turn to an article in the June Atlantic by Jacob A. Riis, entitled. "The Tene ment House Blight." in this Mr. Riis points out that 60 per cent-I have seen it put by others as high as 80 per cent—of the population of New York live in 40,000 tenements.

THE NAMELESS HERO.

(From the Denver News.) There are countless beroes who live and die, Of whom we have never heard; For the great, big, brawling world

With hardly a look or word;

Of whom the list can boast is the man who falls on duty's call, The man who dies at his post,

While his cheek is mantled wth man And the pathway of life looks bright He is brought in a moment to face the gioom

Surrounding the final night stands he

The man who cies at his post. Who follows the glorious tide of war

And falls in the midst of fight. He knows that honor will hover o'es And cover his mane with light, But he who passes unsung, unknown Who hears no applauding host, Goes down in the dark to his fate

The man who dies at his post.

Who bears with disease while death draws near. Who faces his fate each day. Fet strives to comfort and help

His comrades along the way. Who follows his work while he ye

And smiles while he suffers most, It seems to me be is a hero true— The man who dies at his post.

There are pleuty to laud and crown The Bero who falls in strife, lut few who offer a word of praise To the crownless hero of life. He does his duty and makes no claim.

To the silent marriyr unknown The man who dies at his post.

And tonight I propose a toast
